Car Veterans can expect up date communications

Each of the 50,000 men and women leaving military service every month can expect at least five Veterans Administration communications within six months of their separation date, Merlyn J. Cook, Assistant VA Center Director for Regional Office, noted today.

Upon notification by the Department of Defense of termination of active duty under conditions other than dishonorable, the VA tells the new veteran of his eligibility for benefits.

The veteran is urged to contact the nearest VA regional office or a representative of a veterans' service organization for complete application procedures.

Separate communications are sent to veterans providing them with GI Loan Certificates of Eligibility for homes, condominiums and mobile homes and also information on insurance and educational programs.

Six months after release from the military, veterans receive a follow-up VA letter, again reviewing the veterans' benefits timetable. Particular emphasis is given to those benefits which require application within a year of separation.

THE BENEFITS TIMETABLE INCLUDES:
Register with local state employment service office. Veterans have up to one year to apply for unemployment compensation, but applications filed after a long period of unemployment could result in a lower rate of unemployment compensation.

Within 10 days, if previously registered with Selective Service, report address through local board. Within 90 days, apply to former employer for re-employment. In 120 days, (up to one year if totally disabled) convert Servicemen's Group Life Insurance to five-year Veterans Group Life Insurance. Within one year from date of notice of VA rating, on disability, apply to VA for Special National Service Life Insurance based on service-connected disability, if applicable. Within one year, apply to VA for dental care. As soon as possible, apply to VA for GI education or training, which must be completed within 10 years of separation from military service. THERE ARE NO TIME LIMITS FOR VETERANS TO:

Apply for GI loan guaranty to buy, build or improve a home. File claim with VA for compensation for service-connected disabilities or disease, or apply for hospital care. Seek assistance from local state employment offices in finding work or entering Labor Department job-training programs.

Public hearing to review denial for center

Echoes challenges Echo, claims Oaklands oak oakier

The Andrew Jackson Oak is located on "The Oaklands," a five-acre estate owned by Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. (Lower Bebington) Badrock, located on State Highway 603 about a quarter of a mile north of U.S. 90. Previous owners were Al Voight, the former Bay St. Louis Chevrolet dealer and his wife.

Measuring some 17 feet, four and one half inches in circumference, the oak, as recorded in 1939, has a spread in excess of 155 feet and was, also at that time, estimated to be more than 400 years old. "It is now much bigger, older, and oakier," Badrock claims.

When bought by Mr. Voight in 1939, the property needed grading and draining, a project which surrendered 150 stumps to the landscape artist's work force in a transformation from wilderness to garden spot.

The giant oak, surrounded by a "court" of lesser oaks, was well known to the old timers of Hancock who dropped by to visit Mr. Voight, and regale the new owner with yarns passed down from their great grandfathers.

"Old Hickory," on his way from Mobile to New Orleans, ahead of the Battle of New Orleans, camped for a day and a night under the generous spread of this old oak, they told him. An old plaque commemorates the event.

On Tuesday of this week, Lower Bebington Badrock threw a tape around the Andrew Jackson Oak and the measurement was recorded at 17 feet, four and one half inches. If the measurement had been taken a little higher up the tree it would have made 25 feet. As it was the "tape" was cheating a little by including a small piece of a sawn off limb.

But, the most important addition at the "measure in" (or measure up), was the admission by L.B.B. Badrock that the history of the tree has recently been further enhanced with his learning of its reputation as a "hanging tree."

The lighting system on the grounds of "Oaklands" is both unusual and squirrel. This lamppost is allegedly from Royal in the Quarter and has acquired its leaning habits from the simple fact that it was hit by a truck.

Historic note provided

The tenth Legion of the Roman Army, around 33 or 32 B.C., assigned to garrison duties in England, did, after whacking away at the Krewes of Bodecea et al, establish headquarters on the River Dee, building a bridge, walls around the town, and a substantial castle, still utilized for County Council affairs.

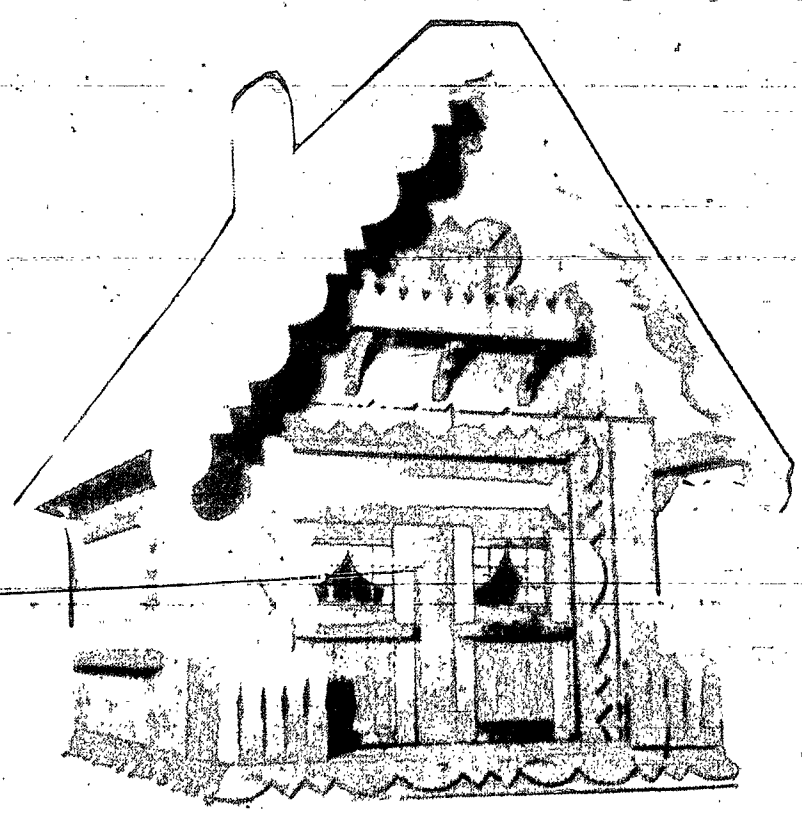

Out from this city, Deva, known now as Chester, in the typical Roman style, they built a network of straight roads. One traversed the Wirral Peninsular, roughly following the top of Thurston Ridge, the north ridge of the Dee.

Windmills were established on the ridge, as were some quarries. From the quarries, in later years down the ridge side, ran early, narrow gauge railroad tracks, to convey the sandstone blocks to shipping points on the Dee to the south, and Mersey to the north. The River Dee gradually silted up, and the northside ports, at Ellsmere, Brombrough, Sunlight, Rock Ferry, and the like, took up the yoke of commerce.

Down the north slope, one side of quarry rails led from the village of Higher Bebington to the larger village of Lower Bebington. The weight of the sandstone blocks coming down on the little cars was enough to pull the empties back up the hill, through a series of "line" stations, although generally the "empties" were packed with a solid block of kids. Higher Bebington had a windmill, Lower Bebington a castle, but we shared the track.

When is a house...

"When is a house not a house?" runs the ancient maxim. The normal answer is, "When it's a home!" In the case of Mr. and Mrs. T.D. Ashman residence on Laflitte Drive in Waveland, the answer is, "When it's our mailbox!" Dix Ashman says chimney lights up when mail is in box and, according to sign on post, indications are the whole shebang is booby-trapped.

Gives art as proof

Husband key factor claims

"Mother of the Year," 1975

On May 11, 1975, Prima Luke of 333 St. John, Bay St. Louis, gave her mother Lucille, the "Mother of the Year Award."

Last week, the same Mrs. Luke, said her success was due entirely to her husband, Leroy.

From previous conversations we know how Leroy feels towards Lucille. Mrs. Luke is a very, very accomplished creative artist.

Sitting on nail kegs, upholstered with stuffing and red velvet covers, at a table created from a cable drum, surrounded by an unbelievable number of completed and partially completed projects, we asked Mrs. Luke how she "gets it all together."

"I love creating things," she said. "I like to make something out of nothing," she added, while pointing to a collection of Work Basket magazines, complete since 1952.

"I buy patterns and books of patterns, and set about to make them in as many ways as I can think of," Mrs. Luke said.

Behind us on the wall were two plaques. One vividly portrayed Senor Bull Fighter, complete with cape and charging beast, and the other, his companion, Senorita the Dancing Girl. We were impressed when told they were self drawn, colored patterns on Pellon, glued to a suitable background. The background was of black metal, wearing an ingenious border of metal twirls. The twirls, we were told, are of worked tin can, and the plates are old Sea Coast Echo printing plates. Naturally, that really impressed us.

It is hard to convey the wealth of beauty contained in Lucille Luke's work, as it is to fully cover the variety of production methods. Too, in addition to the obvious result of purpose, how can one estimate or write of the love of creation, the devotion to family, the sense of self accomplishment?

How can value be assessed the hours of work and painstaking exactitude demanded of the crocheting of the Lord's Prayer?

Painting originals in oil, acrylics, Artex, she also antiques beer bottles, paints on flowers, coats with clear spray, and comes up with a decorative piece; decorates toilet soap with pictures, dips the decorated side in wax, allows to dry, and has a unique soap dish "all through the wash," as only the undipped side wears away.

A paper Christmas wreath, cone and nut centerpieces, and a host of tin can originating "candlesticks" adorn her residence, as do four layer deep "flower box" paintings, painted bricks, slates, and shingles, bowls and vases of burlap and pipe cleaner trimmed flowers, broken glass "pictures" of flower arrangements, tiny whiskey bottles on cedar shakes, painted blue, holding arrangements of dried flowers-paper poodles, and papier mache fruit arrangements.

An accomplished seamstress, the artist makes such varied items as purses, pillows, quilts, rugs, and afghans, all with a host of decorative finishes.

A "solid silver" and gun metal antique turns out to be a treated, tin foil covered, jewelry box; original flower vases, a recreation from broken predecessors; an exceptional waste basket, a steam-cleaned grease bucket laced with rolled old magazines and trim.

Lucille Luke is emphatic on her husband, Leroy's, role.

"Without him and his help," she said, "I can do nothing."

Unobtrusively occupying a corner position on a wall laden with her works, there sits a finely embroidered copy of their wedding certificate. The marriage came about on December 23, 1942.

Lucille and Leroy, and daughter Prima, understand the meaning of Christmas.

They are to be envied.

Dangerous situation

These children may not realize it, but they encounter a dangerous situation when walking down this portion of Main Street on their way to school. Recalling the recent accident on U.S. Highway 90 which left two students critically injured Mayor Warren Carver said he plans to have the police department enforce a city ordinance that calls for pedestrians to walk facing traffic in single file on Main Street.

Main Street hazards pointed out, Carver urges hasty completion of work

By CAROLE LANGE

Pointing out the hazards school children face when walking down a portion of Main Street on their way to school, Mayor Warren Carver urged speedy completion of plans to widen the street and add sidewalks at Monday's meeting of the Bay St. Louis City Council.

The part of Main Street in question is the one block area from U.S. Highway 90 to St. Francis Street, approximately 2,340 feet in length.

Mayor Carver said the recent accident at a school crossing on Highway 90 which left two small girls in critical condition reawakened his interest in having the necessary street repairs completed.

"The city has an ordinance calling for all pedestrians to walk facing traffic in single file on Main Street, and our police department is going to start enforcing that ordinance immediately," Mayor Carver said. The mayor's remark came Wednesday morning after an Echo reporter observed the street during rush hour traffic and noted that the children were walking five abreast down the road.

Mayor Carver said repair plans call for widening the street from 18 feet to 26 feet, either constructing curbs with gutters or constructing subsurface drainage, installing underground drainage, and adding sidewalks.

Commissioner Clarence Ladner agreed with Mayor Carver that the street should be repaired soon, pointing out "It's a wonder that somebody hasn't gotten killed."

At Monday's meeting, there was some question as to the type of electrical lighting to be used for the renovated street. George Klempner, Jr. and George Zorn, engineers with Burk and Associates of New Orleans, pointed out that the Council had originally agreed on wooden poles to provide above ground lighting, but Mayor Carver said he now preferred underground cables.

"Main Street is the main entrance into the city," he said "and I think we should spend a little more money to make it attractive, really classy." He emphasized that an attractive location could entice the construction of new businesses on the many vacant areas of land on the street.

The underground cables will cost approximately $30,000 more than the $100,000 already allocated by the Federal Aid to Urban Systems Program which is funding the Main Street project.

The engineers said drafting plans for the street's renovation are almost complete, but should the city decide to install underground cables, they said the plans would have to be submitted to Mississippi Power Company for rates adjustment, then forwarded to the Mississippi State Highway Department for final approval.

Because of the extra amount involved, the Council will meet with representatives of Mississippi Power Co. Friday at 2 p.m., in a meeting open to the public. Mayor Carver said he would also seek recommendations from the City Planning and Zoning Board before any work begins.

The afternoon meeting will follow a 10 a.m. meeting when the Council will reconvene Monday's session to meet with W. A. Barber, division engineer with L & N Railroad, concerning the railroad's costs in certain right of way construction.

In other Council action, Mayor

Carver and Commissioner Ladner, in the absence of Commissioner Lucien Kidd, voted to approve membership of the Electrical Inspector Examining Board.

Appointees include Norman Tartaboule, one year Board member; Odgen Kergosien, two year Board member; Willard Ladner, Coast Electric Power Association; Ed Soitra, Mississippi Power Co.; C. Schaffer, IBEW No. 903 Local; and Joe Sturgis, City of Bay St. Louis.

The Council members also voted to purchase a 1976 LUV (light utility vehicle) pickup truck for the city's street department at a cost of $3,202.35. Turan-Lane submitted the only bid for the new truck.

A request for a contribution to the Bay-Waveland Civic Ballet was denied, because Mayor Carver said he was unaware of the organization and felt he needed to know more about it.

A report on a $160,000 savings to the city in 10 years by using the new computerized billing system was postponed due to Commissioner Kidd's absence.

Request to consolidate loans

School board will suggest new proposal for borrowing $125,000 in short term loan

By DAN BARBER

Assistant Hancock County Superintendent of Education Harlin Hill said Wednesday the school board would offer another approach to county supervisors as a means of borrowing $125,000 needed for immediate repairs and improvements within the county school system.

Hill said a proposal would be made to supervisors to combine a previous short term loan made in 1973 with Monday's request for $125,000 so that two mills would cover the combined interest and principal.

The school board presently owes $75,000 on the 1973 note with $25,000 currently due.

"If" Hill said Wednesday, "we can get the county to pay the $25,000 due this month it would leave a balance of only $50,000. What we are going to propose then is that the board combine these two loans to make a total note of $175,000."

Under the current assessment of $20 million within the county school district, two mills would bring about $40,000 a year - enough Hill says to retire the $175,000 plus interest in five years.

"We are going to talk to Mr. Rutherford (Chancery Clerk) and see if he will go ahead and pay this note," Hill said.

Supervisors took the school board request for the additional $125,000 short term loan under advisement Monday after board attorney Sam Favre said he did not believe two mills would cover the $75,000 outstanding and the additional loan.

The school board proposed to obtain the loan at a maximum 6 percent interest, repaying it in five installments over a five-year period.

Hill said the $125,000 would only take care of the "immediate" items that needed attention within the school system and had nothing to do with the county's need for a new high school in the southern half of the county.

In its resolution to the supervisors requesting the loan, the board broke down its needs as follows: 1) addition to gymnasium at Gulfview - $58,000 2) portable classrooms at Hancock North Central - $44,520 3) treatment plant repairs at Gulfview - $2,875 4) treatment plant repairs at C. B. Murphy - $2,730 5) electrical repairs at Hancock North Central - $1,240 6) roofing repairs at C. B. Murphy - $1,257 7) roof repairs at Gulfview - $5,534 8) science table and chairs for Hancock North Central - $2,703 9) Gymnasium lockers and equipment for Gulfview - $2,626 10) Gymnasium lockers and equipment for C. B. Murphy - $2,626.

The school board was still working on an application for federal "impact aid" under Public Law 815, Hill said, to meet the future construction needs of the county.

However, he emphasized, the county is facing tremendous odds for any of this money - which totals only $20 million nationally - since first priority is for construction of new schools on military bases and Indian reservations.

Still, Hill said, the county intends to plead its case personally in Washington for some of this money on grounds of the expected impact the Navy's Oceanographic Office move will have on the school district.

"Hopefully," Hill said "we will know something by at least April (deadline for grant money applications)."

If efforts to obtain any of this money fails, Hill said the county would have no choice but to seek approval for the third time of a bond issue. Two previous efforts have been narrowly defeated by voters.

I-10 hospitality center bids to be opened in Jackson

Bids for Phase 1 construction of the Mississippi State hospitality center on Interstate Highway 10 are to be opened on Tuesday, November 25, in Jackson. E. L. Boteler Jr., director, State Highway Dept., made the information known this week in a letter to State Senator Martin Smith of Poplarville.

Roadblocks to stop motorists for check

Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan Ladner said Monday that deputies would conduct an all-out inspection Thursday, Nov. 20 for expired license tags and out of state tags on cars of Hancock County residents.

Ladner said his men would man roadblocks throughout various locations in the county and at the city and county schools for violators.

"We are giving the motorists fair warning," Ladner said that we intend to "ticket" these people who have not purchased their tags and those driving with illegal tags on their cars."

In the letter Boteler states his department has obtained the necessary permits from NASA and has "advised" to receive bids Nov. 25, 1975, for Contract 1 of the hospitality station.

Contract 1 covers the construction of ramps, site grading, and the like.

Alan Greenspan heads annual economic conference

Alan Greenspan, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, will head a stellar list of speakers at the third annual Governor's Conference on Economic Development scheduled Dec. 4-5 at the Holiday Inn Downtown in Jackson.

Greenspan, who is recognized as one of the nation's leading authorities on economics and finances, is a native of New York City, where for the past 10 years he was president of Townsends-Greenspan & Co., an economic consulting firm.

During the last administration, Greenspan held several key positions as the President's advisor, including director of Domestic Policy Research and chairman of the Task Force on Foreign Trade Policy.

Presidential appointments have included the Commission on Financial Structure and Regulation and the Task Force on Economic Growth. From 1970-74 he served as consultant to the Council of Economic Advisors, consultant to the U.S. Treasury Dept., and consultant to the Federal Reserve Board. During this period he was also a member of the Secretary of Commerce's Economic Advisory Board.

Greenspan currently holds directorships for various companies and corporations and has lectured extensively on economic subjects.

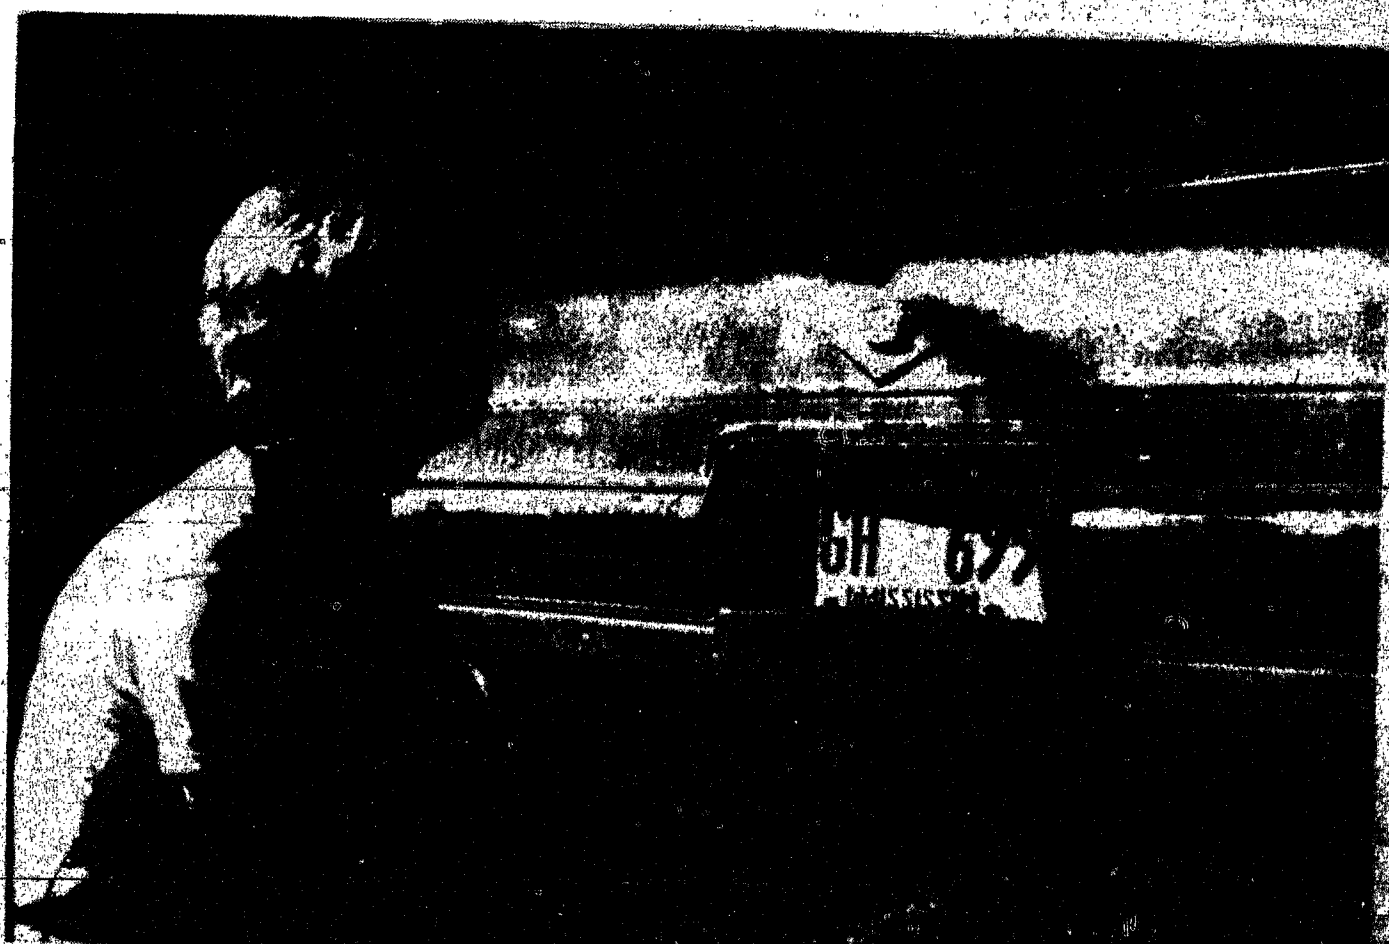

The Mississippi A & I Board is hosting the conference which is expected to draw close to 2,000 participants. Governor Waller and Dr. Robert L. Robinson, executive director of the A & I Board, will be principal speakers at the opening luncheon Dec. 4.

Senior citizens get discount at National

National Super Market in Our Shopping Center, Waveland, is now offering Senior Citizens Bonus Day, a program that allows persons 62 and older to receive a five percent discount on groceries every Tuesday through Dec. 31 of this year.

John Williams, division manager for the Louisiana based chain, said the discount applies to the first $40 of a grocery order and includes all purchases except tobacco and liquor. He said food stamp purchases are also eligible for the discount.

Customers wishing to participate in the program should bring proof of age to any National Super Market and receive details at the courtesy counter.

Tattletale tag

When Mrs. Lillian Alberes leaves her home on Chapman Road in Bay St. Louis, she makes sure that her driving is exemplary. Why? Because with an upside down and backwards license tag she is sure to be noticed! Mrs. Alberes said her husband Lester first noticed the unusual tag when he was driving past the place on Tuesday. They decided to buy a tag and were driving if there are others having trouble.

Veteran's Service Office/Chester Curvey

Domiciliary care within the limits of existing facilities, may be provided for service-connected veterans who are suffering from a permanent disability, have no adequate means of support and are incapacitated from earning a living. War veterans and veterans with service after Jan. 31, 1955, who have no service-connected disability may be provided domiciliary care providing they have disabilities that prevent them from earning a living and they are unable to defray the expense of such care. Veterans must also meet certain other physical requirements for residency in a domiciliary, such as be able to walk to and from the dining hall, clean their own area, bathe themselves, etc. There is always a waiting list, therefore applications must be submitted long before a veteran can expect to be admitted to the domiciliary.

OUT PATIENT DENTAL TREATMENT
Veterans may be provided dental treatment for conditions that are service-connected to a compensable degree, conditions resulting from combat wounds or service injuries, dental conditions that are directly related to or are aggravating a service-connected condition, and service connected dental conditions of veterans who Disabled veterans training under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act may be provided dental treatment on a one time basis.

PROSTHETIC APPLIANCES

Veterans must meet the basic requirements for outpatient medical treatment; or be receiving hospital or domiciliary care and be in need of a prosthetic appliance for at least one of the following: For service-connected disabilities or related conditions, (2) for disabilities for which hospitalization has been authorized, or disabilities associated with and aggravating the condition for which hospitalization was authorized, (3) as part of domiciliary care when necessary, (4) for any disability of veterans who are 80 percent or more disabled because of service-connected disabilities or (5) when in receipt of increased compensation because they are drawing Aid and Attendance or House-bound payments.

AID FOR THE BLIND

Blinded veterans entitled to receive compensation from the V.A. for any service-connected condition; or increased pension based on the need for regular Aid and Attendance; or increased pension by reason of being permanently housebound, are eligible to receive authorized aids for the blind such as a white cane, colored glasses, Braille Alarm Clocks, Electric Razor, a Braille watch (either a wrist or pocket watch) etc.

EYE GLASSES
Eye glasses may be furnished by the Veterans Administration if they are medically determined necessary for service-connected disability, a necessary part of Hospital Treatment or Domiciliary care or to prevent interruption of authorized training under Public Law 16.

City told shelter lies on private property

The Bay St. Louis Animal Shelter came in the news again this week when Humane Society officers, its new operators, discovered the facility had been built on privately owned lands.

Now on property owned by Alcan Cable, Inc., the shelter may however inadvertently benefit from the new disclosure.

G. E. (Smoke) Lechler, manager of Alcan, said yesterday that he intended to take a crew back to the shelter and completely clean and paint the structure.

"We are going back to spray paint the whole building, thoroughly clean out the property and then police the area," Lechler said.

He said his company had agreed to let the shelter remain where it is until such time as they may need that piece of property.

Contacted yesterday at City Hall, Mayor Warren Carver said that he had heard of the new development but had not yet had time to research any easement the city may or may not have. The shelter was built there by a previous administration through some agreement with the property owner, the mayor said. He said that no plan existed to move the shelter nor were any in the making at this time.

Commissioner Clarence Ladner agreed that the council had not yet had time to discuss the matter.

"I assume we will accept the generosity of Alcan until such time as we have to do something about it."

"It is something we will have to face in the future. When we build another animal shelter I want it to be one of the best," Ladner said adding, "in the meantime we appreciate what Alcan is suggesting."

Ladner also said he had been in contact with the Humane Society on a regular basis and was well satisfied with the work being done and the progress made.

J. R. Lavoie of the Bay-Waveland Humane Society and interim animal warden, said he hoped the city would come forth with some future plans setting forth its intentions regarding shelter construction.

Selling firetrucks

Women succeed in traditional male business

It's not unusual for little boys to dream of growing up to be a fireman. Although fire fighting is traditionally a man's world, there are volunteer fire departments which number a lady or two among the membership.

What is unusual, and probably startling to the traditional-minded male, is a Mississippi business selling fire trucks and apparatus — owned and operated by two women!

For the past year, Mrs. Marge Ferguson and Mrs. Lucille Frame have been successfully operating the Southern Fire Equipment Company, Inc. in Rankin County.

In fact, business has been successful to the point that the company outgrew its former quarters. With the help of a loan from the Small Business Assistance Department of the Mississippi Agricultural and Industrial Board through the Rankin County Bank, the two expanded their operation and recently moved to new quarters in Flowood Industrial Park near Jackson.

"We have offices, a warehouse, sales and service all under one roof," Mrs. Frame said.

The company represents 55 national brands and stocks everything from the largest fire truck down to the smallest fire extinguisher. "Firemen can come in and browse," Mrs. Ferguson said. "We've got everything we need right

Why women and fire equipment? According to Mrs. Ferguson, "The business was there, and we took advantage of it."

Q. The county widened the street where I live, and everyone on the street was assessed for the costs. Can I get any deduction for this?

A. No. Any assessment for local benefits such as streets, sidewalks, sewers, etc., which usually increases the value of your property, is not deductible as taxes. Instead, you add the assessment to the cost basis of your property. If you later sell the house, this addition to the basis may reduce the gain on your property, and subsequently reduce the taxes you pay on the gain from the sale.

Q. I am divorced and have custody of my six year old son. I help support him, but my former husband also makes child support payments. Which of us is entitled to the dependency deduction for the child?

A. Generally, the parent who has custody of the child for the greater part of the year is entitled to the dependency exemption, but there are exceptions.

Your husband may get the exemption if the divorce decree specifies that he is entitled to it, and if he provided at least $600 of the annual child support.

Also, he may get the exemption if he provided $1,200 or more in child support, and you cannot clearly establish that you provided more.

Q. I work in a factory and have the choice of receiving free meals at the company cafeteria or receiving a cash allowance for them. Would I have to include the cash in my income?

A. Yes. Any cash allowance from your employer for meals must be included in your income. Meals your employer furnishes free are usually not income if they are furnished on the business premises, and if they are furnished for your employer's benefit. However, if you have a choice of accepting either the free meals or a cash allowance, and choose the meals, you must include their value in your income.

Q. I had a car accident and my automobile insurance will pay for the medical care of everyone injured in my car. Can I deduct the medical insurance portion of my auto insurance as a medical expense?

A. No. Since the medical insurance covers anyone in your car, not just your spouse and dependents, it is not deductible as a medical expense.

LET'S TALK TURKEY

For good reason, Benjamin Franklin suggested the turkey as a more fitting emblem for America than the eagle: Wild turkey fed both the Virginia and New England colonists. It was the main dish at that first Thanksgiving. Few colonists had ever seen an eagle.

When an American says, "Let's talk turkey," you know what he means is, "Let's get down to the main issue of what is yours and what is mine and how we can share fairly."

All of which leads us to Thanksgiving dinner and one of the recipes traditionally

Disabled since birth

'Independence' is her middle name

Legally, she's called Rosemary Smith—but independence is her middle name.

It's her quiet, calm personality and spirit of independence which impress all who meet Rosemary Smith, of Rt. 3, Brookhaven, 25-year-old Vocational Rehabilitation evaluation aide at the Mississippi Methodist Rehabilitation Center, Jackson.

Born without arms and with a dislocated left hip and crippled left leg, Rosemary has throughout her life accepted her disabilities as a fact, but has refused to let them defeat her.

Today, as an aide-in-the-Evaluation Unit of the Rehabilitation Center for severely disabled adults, Miss Smith administers and evaluates vocational assessment tests for Vocational Rehabilitation clients.

"She's an inspiration to many severely disabled patients," said Doyle Tenyson, Center assistant director in charge of rehabilitation services.

"Many patients who come through the evaluation unit have a defeated, hopeless attitude. Without Rosemary's saying a word, she gives them renewed courage. You can see it in their eyes."

A blonde young woman with blue eyes, Rosemary has quiet dignity and poise. Her warmth emerges as she relates to the patients and her fellow professionals.

Miss Smith wears an artificial left arm with a metal hook, but no prosthesis for a right arm. She operates the hook deftly by using the muscles of her shoulder and a very short arm.

Rosemary uses her mouth, picking up papers, lifting a glass to her mouth without spilling a drop, and holding a pen or pencil to write in a clear script.

Miss Smith maintains her own apartment. She dresses herself, and she cooks by picking up pots and pans with her mouth and feet. Rosemary walks the short distance from her apartment to the Rehabilitation Center. She is independent—and likes it that way.

From the age of one through eleven, Rosemary underwent a series of surgical procedures. She was graduated from North Star High School, Lincoln county, and was assisted in attending Copiah-Lincoln Junior College and the University of Southern Mississippi by the Vocational Rehabilitation division.

Quietly, calmly, Rosemary Smith goes about the business of living and helping others. Sometimes she is in pain—"not always, just sometimes." She asks no special favors—Rosemary Smith, with independence for a middle name.

Stennis advocates HEW handling of food stamps

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Senator John C. Stennis in a statement to the Senate Agricultural Research and General Legislation Subcommittee said that measures to correct the "excess and abuses" of the food stamp program are "long overdue."

Stennis charged that the program was created by "loose, open-ended legislation," and "has been permitted to grow and expand beyond all reason. It must be brought firmly under control, so that it serves the truly needy and is denied to all others."

Advocating measures to "streamline and simplify the program," Stennis expressed the belief that the program should not be administered by the Department of Agriculture. "It is a social welfare program," Stennis said, "and in my opinion, new legislation should transfer the responsibility for the program to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare."

Stennis pointed out that "constant changes in regulations have been a contributing cause to inefficient administration" which the Treasury Department has estimated as being responsible for errors "costing the government between $500 million and $1 billion a year." Stennis cited a Treasury study indicating that one in every six persons receiving food stamps are in fact not eligible for the program. The study also estimates that as many as 40 percent of the participants are receiving more or less than the actual number of stamps to which they are entitled.

To help eliminate individual abuses of the program, Stennis proposed that "penalties for fraud... be strengthened" with a "mandatory requirement for prosecution" in certain cases.

Stennis emphasized that Congress must ultimately consider "whether it is in fact a prudent and effective measure to substitute food stamps for direct assistance payments." He pointed out that the "truly needy are able to obtain financial assistance from the government" and the use of food stamps "is intended to assure adequate nutrition."

"The question," Stennis said, "is whether those who would expend cash unwisely would not do the same with food stamps, and whether the potential good... is greater than the opportunities to defraud." Stennis used the plight of many elderly people to illustrate the existing inequities in the program regarding income limitations, definitions of households and other criteria for eligibility. The elderly, Stennis said, "frequently live alone, or in a two-person household, and may be penalized for this when they in fact have the greatest need on a per-individual basis."

The Mississippi Senator proposed that deductions either be standardized or eliminated entirely and that eligible families be required to spend a prescribed percentage of their income on food stamps in order to participate.

Hancock animal control is Humane group's aim

Each month in our mail there arrives a copy of the United States Humane Society News. It is often several days before we can sum up the courage to look beyond its cover.

It's arrival this month coincided with our hearing of the first conviction handed down by the City of Bay St. Louis under its animal control ordinances. This did not lessen the publication's impact but it does mean the city is taking a positive attitude in the lessening of suffering for mistreated animals within its confines.

We applaud the city for its stand. We applaud the Bay-Waveland Humane Society for having the guts to tackle a difficult and potentially hazardous problem with tact and good judgement.

It isn't easy to undertake an unpopular cause, but in the lessening of suffering and pain, its worth is incalculable.

The Humane Society of the United States (HSUS) News covers animal suffering on a broad scope - cruelty to animals in the film industry, and this covers not only the obvious things but the inobvious; the engagement of performing sea lions in iddy-biddy boxes; the restriction of chimpanzees to tiny, filthy cages (although advertising on their trailers makes it look like the "Stars" live in luxury).

The fate of the American race horse, shipped to European slaughterhouses is unbelievable in cruelty content; the gore attached to seal slaying, with mother seals fleeing, screaming over a pile of dead cubs, some her own; the perverted viciousness of the coursing track, where rabbits are literally torn apart by dogs, the convulsive tortures sustained by fighting dogs.

To read the HSUS News is to take a trip almost beyond the realms of "Dante's Inferno."

It is not suggested a parallel be drawn between the local neglected animal situation and the HSUS trip.

We do however draw the comparison between the HSUS investigative staff and those of our local humane society. Their rewards, by and large, are in the rescue of an animal, and if they are lucky, the restoration of its life. Sometimes and unfortunately all too often, the rescue leads to simply the end of suffering, but maybe that too is preferable.

The local contingent of humanitarians is trying to extend their area of influence to encompass the entire county.

Within limitations we can understand and support their ideals, albeit with the knowledge that to undertake such expansion would seem to require the addition of considerable numbers of involved membership.

It is felt the Bay-Waveland Humane Society is trying to fill a very difficult position in our society, and we feel our county should extend its hand in something more than a perfunctory greeting.

Possibly one society, the Hancock County Humane Society, with representation from all segments endorsed by the HSUS, and sensibly administered and policed, will eventually provide all our animal protection and control measures.

We hope so.

Politics erode farm profits

The recent switch from private enterprise to political enterprise has American farmers wondering whose towel to throw where as they are faced with eroding profits brought on by political interference.

It all began last Spring when President Ford urged U. S. farmers to plant their 1975 crops with administrative assurances that the autumn harvest would be sold on a free market.

Even more amazing than the recent closing and reopening of the door to the export market by President Ford was his acquiescence to the demands of labor union spokesmen George Meany and his connecting with the secretary of labor instead of the secretary of agriculture.

Farmers throughout the nation have reacted with considerable anger to the switch from private enterprise to political enterprise. They are indignant over the fact that as usual they bought their own seed and supplies, tilled their crops on their privately owned farms with privately arranged capital only to discover they had harvested a crop of "our grain" - a commodity that suddenly cast a national heritage image similar to Mr. Rushmore or Yellowstone National Park.

While labor leader George Meany induced the President to call for a moratorium on further U. S. grain sales to Russia for a specified time, he also induced a severe reduction in prices offered farmers on the nation's grain markets. The market immediately dropped, costing the nation's farmers many millions of dollars. Since then, prices still have remained low and unstable and the intricate transportation system has been sorely disrupted. Farmers have been forced to store much of the 1975 harvest of corn, wheat and soybeans on the ground for lack of sufficient storage facilities in the wake of the export market disruption.

Under normal circumstances American agriculture exports from one-half to three-fourths of some of its major grain products. The 1975 production of corn and soybeans both are at record breaking levels, aggravating the consequences of these bottles in harvesting, shipping and marketing.

American Farm Bureau Federation president William J. Kaufman immediately recognized the threat to American agriculture and protested the President's action. And in the following weeks he reminded President Ford that neither the U. S. government owns any grain nor do the labor unions. Only farmers own grain, or their agents or brokers who buy it from them. Kaufman termed the movement "piracy" as he protested the expounding of this private product for national political purposes.

It makes neither sense nor especially sense. Mississippi farmers don't understand this kind of non-profit equation and neither do their financial institutions. The way we're going there will be many, many more farmers leaving the farming profession resulting in higher food prices for everyone instead of lower.

Private enterprise simply works better than political enterprise.

LIVING WITHIN OUR MEANS

When Congress surprised the world and announced its intention to live within a prescribed budget, many skeptics snickered under their breath. Others burst right out into full-blown laughter.

Congress, the most "generous" legislative body in the world, live within a well-defined budget?

That's right, friends. The time has finally come for Congress - or, perhaps, PARTICULARLY Congress - to live within its means.

I happen to like the idea of a congressional budget. The way I see it, Congress is no better than the people it serves. And if the people it serves must live with a budget, then Congress certainly should learn to live within a budget of its own.

Washington Report

By: Rep. Trent Lott

This year, for the first time in its long history, Congress is forcing itself to vote on the budget as a whole. Moreover, we're forcing ourselves to vote on each deficit we approve.

As I have said many times, one of the most important pieces of legislation approved by the 93rd Congress was the bill that called for a congressional budget. We're taking a trial run with such a budget this year and while it is probably not fair to judge it this early, I have serious reservations about it.

For starters, the Budget Committee is loaded with liberals. That's a bit like putting the fox in charge of the chicken house.

The Budget Committee's latest report on the budget for Fiscal Year 1976? It goes like this: $301.8 billion in revenues; $400.5 billion as the budget authority; $373.8 billion in outlays; a deficit of $72 billion; and a public debt of $620.4 billion.

Stack that up against the President's budget, which I thought was too much in itself: $297.5 billion in revenues; $376.8 billion as the budget authority; $349.4 billion in outlays; a deficit of $51.9 billion; and a public debt of $596.4 billion.

You can see right away that the Budget Committee is a bit more extravagant than the President.

So where are the differences, you ask? Where did the Congress disagree with the President?

Well, the President wanted $13.7 billion for education, manpower and social services. Congress wants it to be $22.4 billion.

The President asked for $16.2 billion for veterans benefits, but Congress is insisting on $19.9 billion. The President wants $5.2 billion for community and regional development, but the House wants $10.6 billion.

And here's the real kicker. The President drew the line at $107.7 billion for national defense. The House wants to cut that back to $99.6 billion.

Members of the Budget Committee wanted to cut their budget somewhere, so they started with national defense. But while they were hacking away at defense money, they found a way to INCREASE the funds for all kinds of social programs.

Even though this is a trial run with the budget, our votes on spending limits and revenues are now binding votes. Any bill pushing spending beyond the limit will be out of order and can be blocked by any one member's objection.

I like that particular feature. I firmly believe that Congress should force itself to operate below a spending ceiling.

All in all, I shiver when I consider the size of the budget. Restraint must be the order of the day.

Letters to the Editor

EDITOR, SEA COAST ECHO,

I believe it gets a little too routine that every morning we take those dearest to our hearts and deposit them in the hands of others. I am speaking of our children and the school systems in our cities and counties - in my personal situation the Waveland Elementary School under the direction of Principal Douglas McQueen and his staff.

I grew up in the military and have traveled extensively and been enrolled in many schools throughout my life and have become fully aware of the effect that an inferior school can have on a child, but let me now express my feelings on the Waveland Elementary School and Mr. Douglas McQueen. Since my son started to school this year at Waveland he has looked forward to each and every day of going to school and comes home full of excitement from it daily environment and facilities.

Mr. McQueen is doing a tremendous job for those dearest to our hearts not from a feeling of duty but one of concern, dedication and desire. So let us stand up and applaud someone we take for granted from day to day.

Myself and my wife are very, very appreciative of the job that Mr. McQueen is doing at Waveland Elementary. His dedication and desire is apparent by the fine staff that he has and the spirit that is felt when entering the doors of Waveland Elementary.

Mr. McQueen is a fine young man committing himself to his school, our children, and his community. Let us all thank him for the fine performance of his duties as principal of our children at the Waveland Elementary school. My wife and myself are truly thankful.

James L. Harrell

Editor, Sea Coast Echo:

Surprise? No. Dismay? Yes. About what? About the spending spree our Federal government is planning for us.

Yes, I am all for holding the budget to a "PALTRY" $25 billion. It sounds very good too that they are "talking about" cutting out some of our "social programs." We can also digest their "idea" of cutting our income tax if they decide to do it in a way to benefit the average American instead of merely passing more benefits on to the rich and the corporations who already have the advantage of every tax deduction from a to z. However, the last two categories always seem to reap the most benefits.

Could that be because Capitol Hill is made of those people who are in these categories?

It is far beyond my twelfth grade knowledge to comprehend how Capitol Hill is going to cut taxes (its only source of income) and yet continue its ever growing new spending spree.

They tell us they are going to cut on our "social programs." Maybe I don't understand what our social programs are all about, but from what I see it involves a lot of Americans.

Can they prove to us that they are going to benefit the country by depriving a magnitude only to divert the same money plus, to an apparent corrupt railroad system?

Are we going to have to pay the regular dividends to all the present stockholders of a management deficit railroad system, or are we the taxpayers "the fairy godmothers" going to be the new stock holders and receive the forthcoming dividends?

Remember America, President Ford is getting ready to give 2 billion plus of our tax money to a new railroad system for a starter to recovery. Don't you think we should be the ones to turn the dividends to our national investment?

Remember also that our big salaries to nothing Congressmen are letting him get by with it without a whimper so far.

Just for an off the beat thought - how many people do you think will suspect that a "Chunk" of that "railroad" money ends up in political campaign funds?

Just a few days ago President Ford said in a speech (and Trent Lott printed it in his last newsletter) that a cut of 23 billion is 23 billion less than what we will spend if we just stand by and let the train run over us.

Well America it sure looks like Gerald is going to let that train run over us.

Letter to the Editor:

I would like to know if there is any justice in Hancock County? I was parked off the street on Seventh Street by the park, I didn't have any lights on. There are two street lights nearby enough to see.

Here comes a car speeding and blew his horn. Then bang, a teenager hit my car. Tests conducted by Bay St. Louis patrolman Emmett Ellis showed the driver had been drinking.

I was given a ticket for illegal parking. What the driver of the other car got, I don't know. We both had to go to city court. The case was postponed for them to get a lawyer and the next week it was postponed because the judge was in court trying to learn something from the cases they were trying. He had to get his rest. We went to court last Wednesday Nov. 5 and the judge had tried their case without us and ours was tried without them. I would like to know if there is any justice in our county? Neither party was found guilty. The driver of the other car was 15 years old - a minor. Someone is guilty. There is no justice.

"News From Your Mansion"

By Carroll Waller

This has been one of those full and interesting weeks. Another name has been added to our list of Governor's descendants who have visited the Mansion.

On Thursday Miss Ann Vardaman of La Jolla, Calif., visited the Mansion with her grandmother, Mrs. J.K. Vardaman of Jackson, whose late husband was the son of Governor Vardaman. At the time of Ann's visit, the FFA girls from the high school in Vardaman (named for Gov. Vardaman at the end of the first year of his administration) were also touring the Mansion and they all got together for a picture taking session. Since Bill Stanford Vardaman as the "Sweet Potato Capital of the World" last year and was in Vardaman on Friday night for the annual festival, it made for a "Vardaman" type week.

A VIP group also toured the Mansion during our week. These important visitors included members of the Building Commission and their ladies.

The Building Commission was responsible for directing the entire restoration project, and they were invited to come as a group and see the finished product which all agreed was beautiful. The group included Lt. Gov. and Mrs. Winter, Rep. Horace Harned of Starkville, Rep. and Mrs. Bunky Huggins of Greenwood, Sen. and Mrs. Sam Wright of Jackson, Sen. and Mrs. Martin Smith of Poplarville, Sen. James Molpus of Clarksdale, Building Commission Director James Chastain and the Commission Attorney and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Delos Burks.

We also had four groups from Mississippi University for Women, from Alpha Delta Kappa, teachers honorary, a group of international students, the Brookhaven Newcomers Club, club scouts, study clubs, hobby clubs, lots of students and many other groups and individuals.

On top of all this, I myself celebrated our 25th wedding anniversary and Don had his 18th birthday.

Bicentennial News

By JOE PILET

In these United States Thanksgiving Day is generally accepted as an original American holiday. A day first observed in the year 1621 when pilgrims under the leadership of Governor William Bradford invited Chief Massasoit and other friendly Indians to participate in a three-day feast. This was not a religious holiday. (The first Thanksgiving Day in this country set aside for the special purpose of prayer as well as celebration was decreed by Governor Bradford July 30, 1789.

Thanksgiving Day for the English dates back much earlier than 1621 and the custom was borrowed from the Dutch. Their annual Thanksgiving Day has been celebrated on October 3 since the year 1572, and commemorates their defeat of the Spaniards.

That we borrowed the idea from the Dutch came about in this manner:

In England general education, was neglected and religion was at low tide. True, the Bible had been translated into English and was printed on presses in Holland. The English people, however, were forbidden to read it. Authorized copies were chained to the pulpits of Anglican churches and Bibles were smuggled into England in barrels of herring or flour. A religious upheaval in England followed.

A small group of dissenters, led by William Brewster and call Separatists because they believed in separation of church and state, favored a move from England to Holland, the most progressive and enlightened country in Europe. Here religious refugees from all parts of Europe lived peacefully.

The country was highly developed, the people clean and friendly, the farms productive, there were industrial cities, good roads, and leaders were selected by written ballot. There were hospitals, orphanages, houses for aged people and for the disabled soldiers - even banking had been introduced!

Holland was a center of free speech and freedom of press. Everyone was permitted to worship as he pleased, and to read the Bible in his own home.

In 1607 and 1608, the Separatists sold their home and went to Holland. Records show that William Bradford became a Dutch citizen on March 20, 1612 - the first of 37 to renounce England for Holland. The Separatists were well treated by the Dutch and most of them prospered. Life was pleasant but for the realization that children of English parents were being absorbed into the way of life of the Hollanders. Older refugees objected to their children intermarrying with the Dutch and looked upon Holland as "the melting pot." In order to keep their race pure they thought colonization in America, the new country would be the answer.

In June 1620 the Merchants Co. chartered the Mayflower, a cargo ship used to transport wine from France, for the voyage. A charter from the Virginia Company gave right to colonize. And so the Mayflower, dangerously overcrowded left Holland, spent 75 days at sea, endured a great equinox storm, poor diet, sickness and daily discomfort before anchor was dropped.

Death, disease and discomfort did not discourage these tough and strong willed colonists, for when the Mayflower sailed for home on April 5, 1621, no colonist returned with her.

A peace treaty was signed by Massasoit. William Bradford proved a good organizer. Myles Standish, the little military leader who never joined the church and never lost a skirmish, was invaluable. There was lively trade in furs with enough beaver and other skins available to make substantial payments against the debt owed the Merchants Company. The church was an association of like-minded Christians and set up on a purely voluntary basis. In old records Gov. Bradford describes it thus:

"Our harvest being gotten in, our Governor sent four men on fowling, so that we might after a more special manner rejoice together after we had gathered the fruits of our labors."

Although the Separatists had left Holland, the example set for them by that country was not forgotten - and so the annual Day of Thanksgiving, a joyous celebration was established in America.

Enjoy a day of fun and family and feasting! HAPPY THANKSGIVING

Eudora Welty's fiction discussed on ETV

There are three "marks" of Eudora Welty's great fiction, according to the third program in Mississippi ETV's "A Climate for Genius" series. These marks are craftsmanship, concern and understanding.

Miss Welty maintains that two of the primary ingredients of fiction are time and place. These characteristics of Miss Welty's writing will be discussed and illustrated in "A Time and a Place" at 1:30 p.m. Nov. 23, and will repeat at 8:30 p.m. Nov. 24, on the Mississippi Educational Television Network.

"Fiction," Miss Welty once said, "penetrates chronological time to reach our deeper vision of time that's given to us by the way we think and feel."

"It is through place," she says, "that we put out roots, and where those roots reach toward is the deep and running vein that feeds, and is fed by, the human understanding."

Narrated by famous screen star Cicely Tyson, the program will feature several Southern literary scholars who will offer comments and observations on Miss Welty's works. They are Peggy Preshaw, University of Southern Mississippi; Louis Rubin Jr., University of North Carolina; Lewis Simpson, Louisiana State University; Elizabeth Spencer, Carrollton-born novelist; and T. Daniel Young, Vanderbilt University.

Among Miss Welty's works that will be discussed are stories from "A Curtain of Green," "The Wide Net," "The Optimist's Daughter," "The Golden Apples," and "Losing Battles."

Miss Tyson sums up the meaning of the three "marks" of Miss Welty's fiction in the closing narration of "A Time and a Place": "A unique craftsmanship with language, a concern for a dimension of myth that lie beneath the surface of daily events and an understanding of the inevitable change wrought by the process of history — these are the marks of Miss Welty's great fiction. They are just some of the things she makes us feel and understand," she says.

Christmas Club checks exceed $1.14 million

More than $1,140,000 in Hancock Bank Christmas Club checks were mailed this week, setting an all-time high in the program in both dollar amount and number of individual accounts, according to Lee W. Seal Jr., bank president.

Seal said checks were mailed early again this year in an effort to support local business and as a means of boosting the south Mississippi economy.

"With in excess of a million dollars sent to Christmas Club members throughout south Mississippi at this time," Seal said, "the money will add greatly to the local economy of every community if Christmas shoppers buy at home."

Seal pointed out that this all-time high sets a new mark for Christmas Club savings in south Mississippi. He commended savers for continuing the practice of systematic savings programs, and reported that this year's savings is an increase of $40,000 over last year.

Student paper to get advice

Pearl River Junior College's student newspaper, the Dixie Drawl, will have an advisory committee consisting of former editors of the publication, according to Larry Standford, Drawl advisor.

Committee members will include Don Ruiz, sports editor of the Shreveport Daily News; Mitch Deaver, staff writer for the Picayune Item and Poplarville Democrat; Bill McKie Jr., senior marketing student at the University of Southern Mississippi; Lynn Bond, director of Telecasters; because of his honor, WLOX-TV, Ocean Springs; Reggie Rector, communications student at USC; and Frances Pigeon of the Poplarville Democrat.

More than a million patients each year occupy hospital beds provided by the Veterans Administration.

Breast cancer: hazards and hopes

Everyday 85 women die of breast cancer.

One in 15 women in the United States will develop breast cancer, a total of 170 cases per day.

This year alone there are an estimated 89,000 new cases and 33,000 deaths resulting from breast cancer in the U.S. A recent study by the World Health Organization reveals that more women than ever are dying from breast cancer. In North America and Western Europe, the figure is one in 25.

Breast cancer is the leading cause of death for women between the ages of 35 and 54 and is second only to accidents and suicide as the cause of death in women between the ages of 25 and 34.

Here are more sobering facts:

The risk of developing breast cancer is somewhat lower for married women than single women, lowest of all for married women who have borne and nursed children.

The cure rates are no better today than they were 35 years ago. About 50 percent of all women who develop a cancer in the breast are dead within five years, and only about 25 percent will live 10 years.

In fact, the World Health Organization report notes: "It is a sobering thought that present methods of treatment—though evidently effective in many individual cases—do not seem to be having any overall impact upon the disease or upon the heavy toll it takes on female lives."

Yet, four out of five breast cancer tumors are found to be benign. Breast cancer cannot be prevented but it can, if diagnosed early and treated without delay, be cured at a rate as high as 85 percent. Since cancer invades adjacent normal tissue, it is therefore important to diagnose it before it spreads. Thus, if the cancer is localized in the breast, about 95 percent of the treated patients show no evidence of the disease at the end of five years.

Fortunately, breast cancer is easy to find. In fact, 95 percent of breast lumps are discovered by women themselves. However, not all women are finding breast cancers early enough. A 1973 Gallup study for the American Cancer Society revealed the following attitudes among women regarding breast cancer:

Women see mastectomy, breast removal, as the main adequate treatment for breast cancer.

Breast removal arouses deep-seated fears of being less than a woman, though the overwhelming majority believe they can lead a normal life after breast removal, should it be necessary.

Despite the high degree of concern, few women have their breasts examined regularly by their physicians or engage in monthly breast self-examination, though they are aware that early discovery improves the chances of cure. In other words, less than one-half of America's adult women practice breast self-examination on a routine monthly basis.

22 percent of America's adult women have never even had a Pap test.

Most women know about breast self-examination but few have specific knowledge about how to practice it.

Furthermore, the Gallup study showed that physicians and mass media are the prime source of initial information about breast self-examination, but most physicians do not instruct patients on breast self-examination.

BREAST SELF-EXAMINATION
Routine breast self-examination takes about five minutes to perform, should be done monthly about a week following the menstrual cycle when breasts are less likely to be swollen and tender. Breast self-examination involves palpation of the breasts with the balls of the fingers to feel any unusual thickening or lump. Not just the breasts but the entire area, up into the armpit surrounding the breast, should be palpated. Women should also notice any dimpling or swelling of the skin, any change in the nipple, or any discharge, clear or bloody, which should, of course, be reported to a physician immediately. Regular inspection shows the woman what is normal for her and gives her confidence in her examination.

Women will have a chance to learn how to perform a breast self-examination during a one-hour documentary on breast cancer, WHY ME?, to be telecast on PBS, the Public Broadcasting Service, November 24. The program documents the personal experiences of ten women who have undergone radical mastectomies and also features an on-camera demonstration of a routine breast self-examination.

A monthly breast self-examination and an annual visit to a physician are the two best methods of early detection of cancer at the present time.

OTHER METHODS OF DETECTION

There are several other means to detect cancer of the breast, including thermography (heat study) and mammography (X-ray study of the breasts), the latter recommended only for women over 35 on a regular basis.

The American Cancer Society and the National Cancer Institute have funded 27 detection projects across the nation in a joint effort to demonstrate the value of better diagnostic technology in achieving earlier cancer finding. At each center a comprehensive breast examination will be available to women 35 and over who have no present or past indications of breast disease. The restriction was imposed because this is a test program designed to develop techniques which eventually will make it feasible for community medical facilities to offer early detection to women everywhere.

The examination is a four-part procedure which can detect breast cancer in its earliest stages when it is most curable: 1) interview (general and personal health questions related to the breast); 2) Palpation; 3) Mammography; 4) Thermography. To get these tests, qualified women in the areas served by the 27 projects need only contact their local American Cancer Society unit where a Society volunteer will set up an appointment. Women with symptoms will be referred to their own physicians or to a radiologist, hospital or clinic.

Women tested at the centers will also be taught how to do breast self-examination.

TREATMENT
Surgery and radiation therapy are the primary methods used to treat breast cancer. There are several different types of surgery available, though the simpler surgical procedures have limited success and are in the experimental stage only.

Lumpectomy—removal of the lump only.
Wedge resection—removal of the lump and some surrounding tissue.
Simple or total mastectomy—removal of the breast.

Jackson State announces scholarship

Jackson State University, recently designated as a college sponsor by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC), will provide its first four-year Achievement Scholarship beginning in the fall of 1976. In announcing the sponsorship, Dr. L. C. McMillan, vice-president of Achievement Programs, pointed out that "only those institutions that have consistently attracted Achievement Scholars are Extended or total mastectomy—removal of the breast and muscle tissue.

Modified radical mastectomy—removal of the breast and lymph nodes.

Radical mastectomy—removal of the breast, muscles and lymph nodes.

Extended radical mastectomy—removal of the breast, muscles, lymph nodes and entire mammary chain.

Radiation therapy, chemotherapy and immunotherapy are also available, though they are not recommended for initial treatment, only for advanced cancer patients.

Hormones, chemicals and operations which remove the ovaries or adrenal glands or pituitary gland are sometimes helpful in treating certain patients with breast cancer. Research continues to explore additional measures which may be useful.

In addition, the American Cancer Society offers a free service for women who have had a mastectomy. It is the highly specialized Reach to Recovery Program. Only at the request of the attending surgeon, a trained volunteer, who herself has had a mastectomy and returned to normal life successfully, visits the patient in the hospital. The volunteer is "living proof" of the ability to resume normal life, and she offers special information on breast forms and clothing as well as answers the patient's non-medical questions. She also assists in the performance of those exercises approved by the surgeon.

BEST PROTECTION
The best protection against cancer is a periodic complete health checkup. The checkup

Waste utilization seminar planned

The Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce will sponsor a seminar entitled "Utilization of Plant and Animal Waste in Livestock Feeding Programs," Nov. 25 from 9 a.m. - 4 p.m. at the Mississippi Coliseum in Jackson. Lunch will be served free of charge.

Speakers for the seminar are leading authorities on waste utilization in livestock feeding systems. They include Bob Garst of Coon Rapids, Iowa; Dr. Peter Hogg of Leland; Dr. Joe Fontenot of Blacksburg, Va.; Edward McCaughn of Morton; Bobby Lee of Tallulah, La.; and George Shepherd of Dallas, Texas.

Also speaking will be Dr. Brady Anthony of Auburn, Ala.; H.D. Garrison of Griffin, Ga.; Dr. E.J. Harmon, Ralston Purina Co.; Daniel Whitlock of Toccoa, Ga.; Dr. Kelton Anderson, Mississippi State University; and Dr. R.L. Vetter, Iowa State University.

KERSHNER'S COMMENTARY
By Dr. Howard E. Kershner

The Last Depression Under Freedom

The last depression under freedom in our country occurred in 1920-21. At that time the economy was relatively free. The depression lasted only 18 months. I was in business at the time and studied it at close range.

In the beginning, this depression looked as if it would be very severe. Prices fell farther and faster than they did during the Great Depression. This one, however, was quickly cured and we went on to greater prosperity.

There were three main reasons for this miracle:
1. We had sound convertible money. One could take one's paper to the bank and get gold at any time and in any amount. No license was required; no questions were asked. There was no waiting. One showed in his currency and out came the gold. Dollars were difficult to earn but we had confidence in them. We knew they were sound and would not lose purchasing power. We all worked very hard to earn them.

2. At that time the government and the people believed in thrift and the importance of saving. Individual incomes and government income in all categories were declining but budgets were balanced by corresponding and ever-greater reductions in spending. Even on a declining income large segments of the national debt were retired in both 1920 and 1921. That restored confidence. Both government and people were reducing their indebtedness and accumulating surpluses. Saving, not spending, was the "in" thing for both government and people.

3. The third important factor was the maintenance of flexibility of prices and wages. Inventories were liquidated at falling prices and new goods were manufactured at lower costs. Acting wisely, labor did not price itself out of the market but accepted wages which made it possible for employers to sell their products. If one could not find work at one's normal scale, one accepted the best offer one could find and worked to improve his situation. Distortions and imbalances were quickly eliminated by this flexibility. Rigidity in wage scales was seen to be the principal cause of unemployment.

Sound money, flexible wages and prices and economy with a reduction of government and private debt were the three reasons why this depression was cured so quickly. In our next column we shall tell why the first government managed depression in the '30's was never cured.

Vegetable Plants--Like Humans--Suffer From Diseases

All vegetable plants are subject to diseases. The average home gardener may have trouble with only one or two different diseases, says Dr. Milo Burnham, horticulturist, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

Diseases vary in severity from year to year depending on environmental conditions, susceptibility of the host plant, and abundance and type of the disease organism.

Common causes of disease are fungi, bacteria, nematodes and viruses. "These pests can injure plants in many different ways," states Dr. Burnham. "For example, some bacteria and fungi may interfere with the supply lines of the plant by clogging water-conducting cells and eventually cause the plant to wilt.

"Some fungi and nematodes can destroy the roots which furnish water and minerals to the plant. Other diseases can cause flowers and fruit to rot, or spot the foliage and thus interfere with food manufacture," he continues.

There are several practices that will reduce losses from diseases in your garden. Choose a well-drained garden site so water does not stand in the rows. This reduces damping off, root rots, and foliar and stem diseases.

Do not have a large amount of undecomposed organic matter present. This will help reduce Southern Blight.

WATCH WATER TEMPERATURE AND SAVE MONEY

According to electric utility authorities, it costs more to heat your water than to light your entire home. In fact, next to home heating and cooling systems, hot water takes the most energy and energy dollars. The Federal Energy Administration reveals, for instance, that it costs more for a man to shave with a regular razor than with an electric razor, because of the higher cost of heating the water.

When it comes to the home laundry, which requires so much water, the FEA points out that modern cold water laundering would save the nation more than 4 million gallons of oil

A well-fertilized plant is less susceptible to diseases than one growing in soil lacking required nutrients.

Do not overwater or underwater, recommends Dr. Burnham. "And, do not wet the leaves late in the day."

Use only plant varieties recommended by the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. Use disease resistant varieties whenever possible.

Rotate vegetable crops in the garden. Do not plant related vegetables in the same location year after year.

Use treated seed whenever possible and disease-free transplants. Select only plants with healthy roots and disease-free leaves.

Use a recommended fungicide whenever disease symptoms appear. The keys to effective disease control with fungicides are early application, proper material, thorough coverage of the entire plant and repeated applications, if weather favorable to disease development continues.

When a disease attacks plants in your garden, contact your local county Extension office for assistance in diagnosis, and recommendations for control, suggests Dr. Burnham. Or, take a few specimens, including the roots, wash off the soil, wrap in a plastic bag and mail immediately to Extension Plant Pathology, Box 5426, Mississippi State, Mississippi 39762. When you mail the plants, write a letter giving as much information as you can.

BREAD BAKING: A QUIET REVOLUTION

As economists quibble about how the nation's economy should work there's a quiet revolution going on in the American kitchen. A large management consultant firm calls it a "trading down" trend. What it amounts to is that consumers are buying ingredients like flour and yeast instead of frozen baked goods to save money. One supermarket manager observed that "frozen pie buyers may trade down to pie crust mix while pie crust mixers move to bags of flour."

But most home bakers believe they are "trading up" as well as saving money by baking bread at home. In addition to saving money the quality of homemade bread has made a hit with most families.

There's old-fashioned flavor and goodness in the accompanying recipe for Buttermilk Rolls. Seasoned cooks know all about the virtues of buttermilk in chocolate cake, tender biscuits and tangy pies. It gives a silky texture and appealing flavor and aroma to yeast rolls. One ingredient not usually in yeast bread recipes is baking soda. The recipe calls for 1/4 teaspoon, a very small amount to counteract the slight acidity of the buttermilk. The Test Kitchens of Fleischmann's Yeast, who developed the recipe point out.

BUTTERMILK ROLLS
Makes 2 dozen rolls
5 1/2 to 6 1/2 cups unsifted flour
3 tablespoons sugar
2 1/2 teaspoons salt

1/4 teaspoon baking soda
1 package Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast
1 cup buttermilk
1 cup water
1/3 cup Fleischmann's Margarine
Melted Fleischmann's Margarine
In a large bowl thoroughly mix 2 cups flour, sugar, salt, baking soda and undissolved Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast.

Combine buttermilk, water and Fleischmann's Margarine in a saucepan. Heat over low heat until liquids are warm (125°F. - 135°F.). Margarine does not need to melt. Milk will appear curdled. Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough additional flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Punch dough down; turn out onto lightly floured board. Divide dough in half. Form each half into a roll 12 inches long; cut into 12 equal pieces. Proceed according to directions (below) for desired shape.

Pan Rolls: Form pieces of dough into smooth balls. Place in 2 greased 9-inch round cake pans. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) for 25 minutes, or until done. Brush lightly with melted Fleischmann's Margarine. Remove from pans and place on wire racks to cool.

Friday Jaycee Bowl

Stanislaus searches for 'stinger' antidote as Rocks, St. Martin continue long countdown

The sixth annual Bay St. Louis Jaycee Bowl promises to be a high scoring offensive battle between St. Stanislaus of Bay St. Louis and St. Martin High School of Biloxi. The Nov. 21 meeting between the two teams will feature two offenses that have a combined scoring average of 19.8 points per game.

St. Stanislaus has averaged 21.7 points per game while holding their opponents to 8 points. St. Stanislaus has averaged 371 yards total offense through 9 games. Offensive leaders are running back Art Scafide, defensive back Mike Graeber, and fullback Skip Negrotto, with 1,023 yards, 802 yards and 679 yards respectively. Leading rushers are Scafide (5.6 yds. per carry) and Negrotto (6.1 yds. per carry). Leading receivers are Gene Hoda and Paul Brown, averaging 21.5 and 23.9 yards per reception. In passing quarterbacks David Weir and Graeber have completion rates of 33 percent and 52 percent. Scoring leaders for the Rockchaws are Negrotto with 54 points and Scafide with 40. St. Stanislaus finished the season with 7 wins and 3 losses, including a 25-13 loss to St. Martin.

St. Martin will counter with an offense averaging 18.2 points per game and a defense which allowed an average of 14 points per game. St. Martin has averaged 283.9 yards per game total offense through 10 games. Offensive leaders for St. Martin are Rick Osley, Vic Swanzy and Steve Diaz with 998 yards, 776 yards and 426 yards respectively. Leading rushers are Diaz and Swanzy averaging 3.8 and 4.4 yards per carry. Leading receivers are Williams and Lawrence averaging 22.2 yards and 17.7 yards per reception respectively. In passing Osley and Swanzy have completion rates of 34.1 percent and 33.3 percent. Scoring leaders for St. Martin are Osley with 76 points and Gornila and Swanzy with 26 points each.

Hancock Hawkettes

Coach Charlie Grantham's Hawkettes are expected to have one of their best seasons ever this year. All starters will be back this year combined with an exceptionally strong bench. Grantham has 11 lettermen returning from last year's squad. Even though 11 players are back from last year's squad, three freshmen have moved into the varsity line-up of 10 players.

"The competition for starting assignments is tremendous," Grantham states. "At this time there is just not much difference other than that a few of the girls have more high school playing experience."

Coach Grantham has to smile when he looks at this year's squad because for the first time in many years he has some height at the center's position. The Hawkettes have always been tough from the outside, and now they have a good inside game to work with against future opponents.

Sheila Ladner, 6'4", ninth grader, is doing a tremendous job at the post position and has the desire and ability to be a tremendous athlete, Grantham says.

She has additional help from returning starter Sharon Ladner (6'8") who is a Junior. Experience is deep in the guard and forward positions. For Lanette Randall (5'5"), this will be her fourth year as a starter at the guard position. She has the talent and experience to be one of the better girls in the state, Grantham adds.

Another senior, Natalie Malley (5'6"), will be going to her third year as a starter. Malley has one of the best jump shots of any player around this area. Returning at another guard position is Kim Dedaux (5'5"). She is a Junior. Ladner is a steady shooter from the outside. Darlene Ladner (5'6") is a senior forward who is a very dependable player with a good shooting eye for the basket.

The Hawkettes had two key injuries last year to Kim Dedaux (5'5") and Charlotte Peterson (5'9"). Both are seniors now. Dedaux started as a freshman and a sophomore and as of now will be out until after Christmas. Peterson is back now and doing a fine job at center. The return of these two will be a tremendous boost to the team. Roundout the varsity squad are freshmen: Sherie Ladner (5'11") and Sherie Ladner (5'4") at the guard position, and Mike Marlene Ladner (5'5") at the forward position. These three girls could end up being the key players before the season is over, Grantham said.

Coach Grantham is assisted by Sidney Bell who handles the Jr. Varsity Girls and the Jr. High team.

Competing for the Jr. Varsity team this year are: Fern Newman (5'5"), senior; Cindy Newman (5'5"), Junior; Bob Malley (5'4"), Vice Peterson (5'4"), Juniors; Carolyn Spiers (5'4"), Sharon Cuevas (5'5"), sophomores; Susie Moran (5'9"), Mona Ladner (5'6"), Volesa Perkins (5'8"), Gina Haas (5'11"), Meligie Seal (5'11"), Sharon Ladner (5'11"), freshmen.

Haleigh's Comet streaks Oak Downs

(Special to The Echo)
PEARL RIVER, La. - In seven of the 15 races Sunday at Oak Downs, Hancock County horses crossed the finish line first.

Best performance of the afternoon for all races was a Class A time recorded by Haleigh's Comet in winning the 300-yard 10th race. Owned by Andy and Clyde Moran, Haleigh's Comet was clocked in 16.44 seconds in defeating Miss Coco Hill, another Hancock County horse.

Two horses owned by Lesli Dedaux and trained by Larry Favre captured quarter-mile matches. Lightning Bar Tag won the eighth and Barn Bars took the 11th.

Two horses owned and trained by Delbert Cuevas also were victorious. La Cleave won an easy three-furlong match and Tontigo Charm won the 330-yard ninth.

Van Fol Mike, owned and trained by James Watson, was involved in a dead heat in the 440-yard 12th race as darkness prevented a photo finish picture needed to determine the winner and the judges declared a deadlock with Jackson.

Brazen Native, owned and trained by Edward Patton, easily won the three-furlong 14th race.

Hancock North Central head football coach Irvin Favre and his staff received high praise this week from an unexpected quarter.

Hancock North Central staff draws praise for life saving

Favre and the coaching staff at North Central were cited by Dr. Frank G. Gruich, president of the Biloxi Catholic Central School Board, for their alert and possibly life saving action on a player following the Hawks Oct. 31 game with Notre Dame.

In his letter, Dr. Gruich, who was the game's attending physician, said "I feel your entire coaching staff should be congratulated for their concern and interest about the welfare and safety of the team."

"I cannot remember which one of the coaches was responsible, but I believe he saved a youngster's life when the player swallowed his tongue at the end of the game, and he (the coach) reacted immediately to dislodge same. The player, Dr. Gruich said, was a member of the Notre Dame team.

"Also the entire coaching staff was at the hospital after the game checking on the injured players," the doctor said.

With Favre were asst. coach Joe Willford, HNC Junior High coach Dayne Cade and HNC faculty members Richard Deere and Charles Lyle, III.

Rebels, State close out season with traditional rivalry Saturday

UNIVERSITY, MISS. Claiming their third consecutive victory with the 23-6 sacking of Tennessee last weekend, the Ole Miss Rebels face traditional rival Mississippi State Saturday in Jackson to close out 1975 football.

1975 campaigning at 5-5 and the current Southeastern Conference reading a fine 4-1 worksheet.

Fact of the matter, Ole Miss overall is so even that point totals are a mere two points apart — 157 for the Rebels against a combined opposition total of 155.

State's Bulldogs are 6-3-1 for the season but stand at only 1-3-1 in SEC results. And where the Rebs are in fourth place and are assured of that high a rating despite the outcome of Saturday's scrap with the Bulldogs, they could at least tie for second with a win.

And if Auburn upsets Alabama Nov. 29 in Birmingham, there could be a fourway tie for the championship. The Tide's record is spotless inside the Conference at 5-0-0. And Florida and Georgia have completed SEC seasons, both with 5-1 records.

Following a 32-6 loss to Bama starting its SEC campaign, Ole Miss turned on Georgia (28-13), Vanderbilt (17-7), LSU (17-13) and Tennessee last weekend for its 4-1 SEC totals.

Wondrous Wendell remembered Saturday in first Ladner Bowl

The Hancock North Central Hawks with a 5-5 record will tackle the Poplarville Hornets, 6-4, at 8 p.m. Saturday in the first annual Wendell Ladner Memorial Bowl at Hawk Stadium. The game is expected to draw more than 3,000 spectators.

Sponsored by the Kiln Jaycees, the winning team will receive individual windbreakers, both the winner and loser will be awarded a trophy and a perpetual trophy will be put on display in the winning team's school, according to Lionel Hoda, bowl chairman with the Kiln Jaycees.

Funds raised by the event will be deposited to the Wendell Ladner Scholarship Fund, a fund established to provide college scholarships to deserving students from Ladner's alma mater, Hancock North Central High School.

The name of the bowl queen will be disclosed at pre-game ceremonies scheduled to commence at 7:30 p.m. She is to be selected from one of five maids whose names were recently made public, Patricia Ladner Smith, Debbie Ladner, Evelyn Necaise, Carol Moran, and Dina Garrett.

Larry Morrison, president of Kiln Jaycees, will deliver a eulogy to Ladner, and introduce Wendell's parents during the pre-game event.

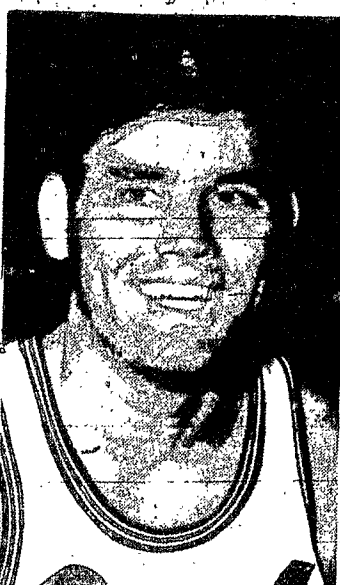

Morrison said yesterday that the perpetual trophy is almost six and a half feet tall and weighs in excess of 150 pounds. The Jaycee president also reported that both the outstanding defensive and outstanding offensive players would receive individual trophies.

With advance ticket sales reported high, Morrison advised prospective spectators to come early.

"We have brought additional bleachers into the stadium for this game but even so we anticipate a sell-out crowd," Morrison said.

Advance sale tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for high school students, Morrison said, adding that the cost would be $2.50 and $1.50 respectively at the gate.

"Tickets are on sale at both the school and the office of the superintendent of education in Bay St. Louis," Morrison reported. Programs available at the game will in addition to featuring players recount briefly the life of the Mississippi Superstar and give a photographic essay of his high school to pro ball career.

Ladner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Ladner of Necaise Crossing, was among the victims of an Eastern Airlines 727 jetliner crash in June of this year when 110 of the 123 persons on board were killed.

BLUE JEANS GARDEN

Blue Jeans Garden Club met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Garcia, Waveland, with Mrs. Frank Peterson, Mrs. Henry Kothmann and Mrs. Florence Foegele as co-hostesses. Mrs. A.M. Thomas, president, conducted the business session.

Election of officers for the coming year was held. Mrs. Thomas was reelected president and Mrs. John Everard was reelected vice president. Others elected were Mrs. Joseph Roppolo, secretary, and Mrs. Frank Peterson, treasurer.

Mrs. Fred Horn, Christmas party chairman, announced the annual Christmas luncheon will be held at 12:30 p.m. Dec. 8 at Ramada Inn, Waveland. Members are asked to contact Mrs. Horn or Mrs. William Richardson for reservations before Dec. 1.

Judging of Thanksgiving and Christmas arrangements was held. Mrs. William Schaefer was winner in the Thanksgiving division and Mrs. Foegele in the Christmas division.

The club voted to plant a rock garden at the Waveland School in conjunction with the bicentennial celebration and Mrs. Charles Dickson and Mrs. Henry Kothmann were appointed chairmen for the project.

The next meeting will be held in January.

CLERMONT VFD AUXILIARY

Mrs. Gloria Moran was elected president of Clermont Harbor Volunteer Fire Department Ladies Auxiliary at the Nov. 17 meeting at Ladner's Grocery.

Others named to office were Mrs. Irene Graff, vice president; Mrs. Wanda Todd, secretary; and Mrs. Leila Saleeb, treasurer.

During the business session conducted by Mrs. Graff, plans were made for a joint Christmas dinner for the Men's Club and the Auxiliary to be held at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 10 at Ramada Inn, Waveland.

All members are invited and are asked to make reservations by Dec. 5 by calling 467-6273 or 467-4788.

Mrs. Alvin Ladner and Mrs. Vivian Moffett hosted the social hour.

WAVELAND PTO
Sixth grade students of Waveland Elementary School presented a skit depicting an interview between Pilgrims and Governor Bradford following the first Thanksgiving, during the November meeting of the school's Parent Teacher Organization, Monday night. The skit was directed by Mrs. Janice Ladner and Sam Allison.

Also at the meeting Frank Shattuck, president, reviewed the goal of the PTO to involve parents in the school for understanding and concern and not primarily in money making projects. Shattuck said he attended the last meeting of the Waveland Aldermen and thanked the City of Waveland for putting up the sign in front of Waveland School. He also thanked Alderman Charles Johnson for instigating the idea.

Shattuck told the parents and teachers that the PTO had donated the money for materials and Jewel Bourn had volunteered his services free of charge to build bicycle racks for the school. Shattuck also thanked Dallas Powell for getting estimates on the cost of putting in a sidewalk for the children on the school grounds.

The PTO voted to hold the Fall Festival Nov. 25 at 2:30 p.m. The Festival will feature a rummage sale, white elephant booth, a shouting booth where children's shouts will be measured by electronic equipment, a booth for Thanksgiving baked goods, and a refreshment booth among others.

Mrs. Charlotte Johnson was named teacher of the month by Douglas McQueen, principal. He pointed out that Mrs. Johnson polled the most points in any month thus far.

McQueen also emphasized to parents that there was no pressure on them to buy the school jackets. He said that the colors blue, white and red were chosen to emphasize the bicentennial as well as to distinguish Waveland from North Bay. He stated that the PTO would receive some of the proceeds from sale of the jackets as well as from the attendance of Alo the clown who will put on a performance today at 1 p.m. at the school.

McQueen thanked Mrs. Jeanne Garcia and all who worked with her on the Halloween Carnival. It was reported that there were things left over that could be used at the Fall Festival.

Mr. Allison's class and Mrs. Coral Gaudet's class shared honors for having the best attendance of parents at the meeting.

VFW AUXILIARY 3253
Theodore S. Price, Ladies Auxiliary to VFW Post 3253, Bay St. Louis, met Nov. 13 at the Post home with president Lucille Boudreaux conducting the business session.

Members from Post 3253 attending the district meeting Nov. 9 at the VFW home in Gulfport included commander Joe Bermond, Lucille Boudreaux, post adjutant, Billy Moran, Harris Boudreaux, Joyce Bermond, Phyllis Moran and Ursula Favre.

On Nov. 14, auxiliaries Lucille Boudreaux, Judith Johnston and Ursula Favre attended a reception at VFW Post Home, Gulfport, honoring Mrs. Jean Woodward, president of Ladies Auxiliary, VFW Department of Mississippi.

It was announced there will be no meeting in December because of the Christmas party.

The next meeting will be Jan. 8 at 8 p.m.

HANCOCK NAACP

The regular session of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) has changed their November meeting time and place to 6:45 p.m. Monday, Nov. 24, at St. Rose de Lima School. Order of business has been amended to delete elections and to substitute a concentration on membership solicitation methods.

VFW POST 5931

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post No. 5931, Pass Christian, held a "Youth Day in The Park," Saturday, November 15.

"Lite-A-Bike," a public service safety program, sponsored each year by the V.F.W., started at 10 a.m.

Reflective tape was placed on each bicycle making the bike more visible at night. Another community service was the general information booth set up by the Ladies Auxiliary. The ladies gave out literature on all V.F.W. and Auxiliary sponsored programs, stressing Americanism, Cancer, Safety and Drug Abuse. A highlight of the booth was the drug display and the question and answer period held by Mr. James Blum of the Community Relations section of the Harrison County Sheriff's Department.

On display were community service record books compiled by the VFW and Auxiliary for the last few years. In three years of entering their books, the Pass Christian Post has won two firsts and a second place in the State.

Refreshments of cookies and punch were served by the ladies at 3 p.m.

Mattie Mitchell, national home chairman for Cecil R. Ruddock auxiliary, has volunteered to man the kitchen each Friday night in November. Mattie will sell hamburgers and hot dogs with all proceeds going to the V.F.W. National Home at Eaton Rapids, Michigan. This home is for children of deceased or disabled Veterans of Foreign Wars.

A message received from Mrs. Glen Grossman, national President of the Ladies Auxiliary, asks all auxiliary members and their families and friends to contribute to the V.F.W. National Home through the purchase of Home Seals.

At the Home many children receive food, medical attention, clothing, education, recreation and guidance from a very understanding staff.

More information on our children in V.F.W. National Home and how you may help is available from Mattie Mitchell, chairman or any member of the Ladies Auxiliary to Post No. 5931, Pass Christian, Ms.

'Operation attic' revived for Little Theatre props

The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre is reviving an old custom called "operation attic" which was used when period costumes or furniture was needed for a production. What the theatre is in need of is furniture for their property inventory, according to spokesman Mike Cuevas.

Mike Cuevas said the theatre's one and only sofa used for rehearsals is now beyond repair as are the majority of the other furniture props used. Members and friends of the theatre are asked to please donate any usable items they no longer need. Mrs. Cuevas said, including sofas, chairs, tables and rugs. Carpet for the theatre's stage is especially needed, she said.

Anyone wishing to donate items may call John Holmes at 467-3710 or Mike Cuevas at 467-4747. Arrangements for pickup will be made.

In 17th century Germany it was believed that good health for the year could be secured by dancing before the statue of St. Vitus on his feastday.

Bulldog trophy case.

Darren Adams and Albert Jarrel, students at Gulfview School, Lakeshore, discuss highlights of new Bulldog trophy case. Unit arrived at school this week after being built by Building Trades Department, Pearl River Junior College, Hancock County Vocational-Technical Center. Gulfview's Parent Teachers Club paid for materials. Glass doors, shelves, etc., were awaiting installation at time of photograph.

Stork shower honors Mrs. Kelley

Mrs. Ray Kelley was honored with a stork shower Sunday afternoon hosted by Mrs. Jack Welch and Mrs. Russell E. Elliott at the Elliott home in Gulfport.

A color scheme of pink, blue and white was used in the decorations. Arrangements of pink pixie carnations, white daisies and baby's breath decorated the reception room.

The refreshment table was centered with a cake iced in pink trimmed with a blue panda. Silver candelabra holding pink tapers were on either side.

Mrs. Kelley was presented a corsage of carnations centered with a miniature panda.

Pre-nuptial events honor Susan Ryan

Pre-nuptial events honoring Miss Susan Marie Ryan, bride-elect of Melvin D. Estrade, included a surprise miscellaneous bridal shower hosted by Mrs. Catherine Roberts and Mrs. Xyome Estrade at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Estrade, Metairie, La.

A green and white color scheme was used in the decorations. The honoree was presented a pale green orchid corsage.

Tea girls were Misses Elizabeth Estrade and Theresa Ryan. Mrs. Helen Currie, Mrs. Dot Kersanac and Mrs. Janet Aime honored Miss Ryan with a surprise miscellaneous shower at the Currie home in Pass Christian.

Mrs. Helen Currie, Mrs. Dot Kersanac and Mrs. Janet Aime honored Miss Ryan with a surprise miscellaneous shower at the Currie home in Pass Christian.

Pass Christian. A pink and white color scheme was used in the decorations.

The bride-elect was presented a corsage of miniature peach colored carnations interspersed with baby's breath. Her mother, Mrs. James A. Ryan, was given a corsage of yellow carnations and baby's breath.

A peach and white color scheme was used in the decorations for a miscellaneous shower given by Mesdames Cliff Banderet, Retta Cardin, Marilyn Ryan, Janet Ryan and Jeanie Ryan at Our Lady of the Gulf Parish Hall.

The honoree and her mother were presented corsages of miniature peach silk roses. Miss Ryan and Mr. Estrade will be married Saturday, Nov. 22 at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church, Bay St. Louis.

First-place HANDS money captured by Bay-Waveland club

The Bay-Waveland Garden Club was awarded first place, and a check for $100, at the Home and Neighborhood Development Sponsors (HANDS) invitational luncheon, Nov. 14 in Biloxi.

Second place and $75 went to Northwood Hills of Gulfport, and third place honors and a check for $50 were captured by Dogwood Garden Club of Ocean Springs.

Sponsored by Sears, the HANDS luncheon was at Mary Mahoney's Old Brick House, decorated in a Bicentennial theme for the occasion, according to Mrs. Leland Littell, of Pass Christian, president, Gulf Coast Council of Garden Clubs.

Chairman of the Gulf Coast HANDS program is Mrs. Elda Duke of Waveland, now aided by a new assistant, Mrs. George Seuzeneaux Jr. —Dennis M. Oliver, assistant manager of Sears, officiated at the awards in the absence of F.H. Cifaldi, manager, who was unable to attend. Also present from Sears was Mrs. Alice Joffrin.

Confrontation

"If you're not married, you're a bum!" exclaims "Papa Baker" to son "Al." Harry Carroll as "Papa Baker" and Eric Tracy as his oldest son go nose to nose in family discussion in the Cabaret Dinner Theatre's current production of Neil Simon's "Come Blow Your Horn." The play, directed by the veteran Phil White, is a very funny family comedy which coupled with an excellent buffet dinner of prime rib and Italian entrees is the best thing in town. The show is running each Friday and Saturday evening through December 6th. For reservations call 641-0202 or 643-3933.

KANTCHA KETCHUM
By L. S. (Doc) Elliott

Speckle trout fishing has been wonderful over the weekend and they are still being caught off the highway bridge and down by Bayou Cadet in the bayou proper and in the canals of the bayou. The ones caught off the bridge are running exceptionally large. The cold front of last week did the trick. They were moving in. Should be up Jourdan River from now on.

As for bass didn't do so hot. Too low tides. Water was out of the sloughs where we have been catching them. The tides should change, going out each afternoon which is ideal for bass fishing.

Believe it or not flounders are being caught most everywhere as well as red fish mostly on dead shrimp while fishing on the bottom.

Klaus Kubeck and Albert Becker are fishing buddies. Klaus said he and his wife can be found at the cutoff on the weekend. They don't catch much fish but they give beer hell. A wonderful couple.

Sorry to report the death of William L. Higgins on Nov. 1st. Mrs. Higgins is the former Elsie Mae Capdepon. Higgins was hospitalized at Lackland A.F.B., Texas. He was buried at Gulfport. Sympathy is extended to the family.

Did you know that bass bite better when the temperature is between 50 to 60 degrees? Plan your fishing trip when the temperature is at this mark. They will still take popping bugs under these conditions.

Emmet Demoran and his son Mickey with Carl Banderet caught 100 lbs. of reds and 150 pounds of speckles one day last week out at the marsh. It was a nice catch.

Arthur Miller and Alden Mauffray made a nice catch last week of Bass (Green Trout). Think they caught them up Grand Plane Bayou.

Johnny Mays of Gulfport, at Three Rivers and Mays Road reported catching a 7 1/2 pound bass. Their catch of bass averaged three pounds.

Gene Domain left Waveland to go fishing out of Hopedale. He claims he caught speckle trout five and six pounds. He was using cockeohoe minnows. Gene is a real fisherman and always remembers his friends.

Saw Harold and Janet Hitt fishing at La France's Camp. They were fishing for red fish, but wound up with speckles. If you folks want to catch reds go to Red Fish Bayou or Three Oaks Bayou or Outer Campbell's Bayou - that's where they hang out. Better still, go to Grand Plane Bayou - that is where the big ones are. Fish just south of the railroad bridge.

Was a pleasure being on Dudley Heiliger's sports program Sunday on Channel 13 with Ray Garner. Dudley is a fisherman from way back. He went fishing after the program about 3:00 o'clock. Went after salt water fish. Has caught his share of the big ones. Dudley makes mostly is "Let's Go Fishing" and he goes regularly. A swell guy to know.

M. F. Cass came down Monday and spent three days with me. We went fishing every day for both fresh and salt water fish. Caught our share of bass, speckle trout, salt water baits, plugs and underwater baits. His slogan Local fishermen are spending most of their time hunting now that the seasons are open or opening. According to Hoke Ogden he, reds, flounders, etc. Cass is from Hattiesburg but does a lot of fishing around here.

These men hunt most everything but I think they specialize on quail when the season opens. They have a couple of real bird dogs which they take care of the year along with Harry Roman and Louis Decell got the limit of doves the past weekend.

Waiting for the snipe season to open. While fishing have seen quite a few. The season will be coming up soon.

around to hunt over for a couple of months. If you have hunted quail you know what I mean.

Rails, also known as mud hens, make for good eating. They are mostly found along the banks of bayous and streams when the tide is real low. They are an easy target and furnish another form of hunting.

Pearlington Notes

BY ONA-MAE MCARTHUR

Get well to Mrs. Nell Johnson, Mr. Jack Bennett, Mr. John RaBass and Mrs. Mary L. Hillhouse in the hospital this week also to Ann Asher who is home from Picaune hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Danny Mitchell are proud parents of a second son William Russell weight 5 lb. 4 oz and 16 inches long.

The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Jake Norman, Mrs. Florene Allen and the late Mr.

Russell Mitchell.

Happy Birthday Kristina Watkins, James Anderson, Michael Shaffer Martin McArthur, Ardis Tadlock, Dianne Ritter, Chandler Reynolds, Dana Reynolds, Ada McArthur, Kim Bruce.

Happy Birthday Joe Craig from Elaine Frazier and Happy Birthday, Darlene, Regina and David Lee from Dora Keys.

Clarence Sanders stationed with U. S. Army in Hawaii is visiting his parents, while on leave.

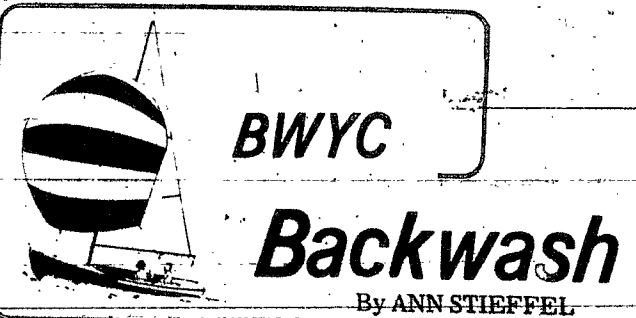

Our sympathy to family and friends of Mr. Ululas Brown who died Thursday in V.A. Hospital in Biloxi. Mr. Brown was a long time resident of Pearlington.

Friends are invited to Pearlington Community Center next Nov. 20 at 7 p.m. for a shower honoring Mrs. Letha Dougless whose home was recently destroyed by fire.

Mrs. Roy Baxter, Mrs. Ida Strahan and Mr. Elliot Giveans express appreciation for donations and help received in the fall cemetery cleaning.

Mrs. Minnie Dawsey from Hickory, La. was a visitor to Mrs. May Lulich, Mrs. Edith Cuevas and Mrs. Earl Holden.

The children and grandchildren of Mrs. Jessie Lee held a birthday celebration in honor of Mrs. Jessie Lee in her home Friday.

WESTERN NIGHT BAR-B-Q-Saturday night's Western Style Barbecue at "The Big BW Ranch" was a tremendous success, due to the efforts of Co-chairmen Mrs. Walter Crawley and Mrs. Numa Snider, and the superb cooking of "Ranch Hand" Numa Snider. Delightful and appropriate music was furnished for the evening by Dick Proctor. Many of the members surprised themselves as well as each other with some good old fashioned square dancing.
